GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE PROJECT AND BACKGROUND ON USER(S) OF THE FACILITY
(Attached additional sheets as necessary)

The facility has been inactive and deteriorating for more than a decade after the discontinuation of operations by Genesee Steel Company. Applicant acquired the property (along with the adjoining property known as 1464 Lyell Avenue) in April of 2017. The total acreage of both parcels is just under 5 acres. Applicant has completed the City of Rochester approval process having obtained a negative declaration relating to the New York State Environmental Qualifying Review Account, an expansion of the M-1 Industrial District and approval of a special permit for the outside storage of construction equipment and building materials.

The improvements for the property include a building of approximately 22,000 square feet of mixed use of office, garage and unheated storage areas. A second building of approximately 6,800 square feet, located on the southerly most portion of the Property, is being evaluated for additional development.

The principal tenant will be Upstate Site & Pipe, Inc., whose occupancy will include office space, equipment storage and material storage. It is intended, however, that other companies will rent portions of the 22,000 square feet structure once completely renovated. The Property is bordered by rail lines on its west and north boundaries and could also be available for uses requiring rail access.
